Blaze go to 2-1 after loss at Orlando and win against Dallas

The Utah Blaze travelled to Orlando on March 26 to take on the Predators. It was a hard fought game, but the Blaze came out on the losing end 68-53. They came back 5 days later at home to knock off the unbeaten Dallas Desperados 69-40. Aaron Boone had strong showings in both games as he scored 6 TDs on 12 catches against Orlando and had 2 TDs and a career high 226 receiving yards at home against Dallas on March 31.

AirBoone sets some career milestones in past two weeks

The last two games have been memorable for Aaron Boone and his fans as the AirBoone set a number of career milestones. In the March 26 game against Orlando, Boone scored 6 TDs, including his 100th career AFL TD on a 2 yard reception from Tommy Grady in the 2nd Quarter. (See article below for a detailed writeup on AirBoone's 100 TDs). In the same game Boone caught his 400th career reception on a 10 yard play for a first down in the 4th Quarter.

Then, at home against Dallas on Thursday, after only 5 days rest, Aaron Boone caught 13 passes and had a career game high 226 yards receiving, this was the second highest single game yardage in Utah Blaze history. As a result, Aaron was named the Russell Athletics Offensive Player of the game. His 3rd quarter touchdown, a spectacular diving catch with a little over 5 minutes remaining in the quarter, was named the Spalding Highlight of the game, his second such award in three weeks.

After 3 weeks Boone league leader in total yards, 2nd in TDs

Currently AirBoone leads the league in total yards with 452 (only one of two with over 400 yards so far) and is second in the league in yards per game at 150.7. Boone is 2nd in the league with total receptions at 36, behind Rodney Wright of San Jose, who has 38. He is 7th in the league with all-purpose yardage. In scoring, Boone is tied for 2nd in TDs with 10 (2 are tied in 1st with 11) and is tied for 3rd in Points per game with 20. He is tied for 3rd in total points with 60 on the season so far.

Last Saturday, Utah Blaze wide receiver Aaron Boone scored his 100th career receiving touchdown with a 2-yard reception from Tommy Grady in the second quarter of the matchup in Orlando against the Predators. He finished the night with six touchdowns and now has 104 in his 5-year career.

Boone broke into the league in 2006 with Philadelphia Soul. Boone made no receptions, but had five tackles and four kick returns with the Soul. He was then sent to the Kansas City Brigade. He made his first Brigade appearance during a week 10 game against the Georgia Force where he grabbed 11 balls for 129 yards and two touchdowns. He played in seven games during the 2006 season and earned a spot on the All-Rookie Team with his 66 receptions for 748 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Boone scored five touchdowns with 157 yards in his second career game against the Los Angeles Avengers in Week 11. The next week he scored four touchdowns with 124 yards versus the Colorado Crush. After just one touchdown in three consecutive games, Boone had 13 catches for 147 yards and five TDs against the Blaze in the 2006 finale.

Boone joined Utah for the 2007 season. He played in just six regular season games and the one playoff game due to injury. He ran his consecutive games with a touchdown streak to seven before getting injured in a Week 9 game with San Jose. He came back to grab seven balls for 97 yards and two scores in a playoff game with Los Angeles.

Through his first two seasons, Boone had scored 27 touchdowns on just 98 receptions. He scored multiple TDs in eight games and five times went for 100-plus yards.

He would explode in the 2008 season for the Blaze. Boone finished that year with 135 receptions for 1,526 yards and 23 touchdowns. He scored a touchdown in 16 of the teams 17 games including the playoffs. He had a 13-game touchdown streak snapped by the Grand Rapids Rampage in Week 14. During the run, he scored multiple TDs on seven occasions. Boone added a season-high three scores in a Week 17 game against the Arizona Rattlers.

When the league returned in 2010, Boone again was a member of the Blaze. He finished fourth in the AFL in scoring with a career-best 46 touchdowns. His 146 receptions were also a career-best to go with 1,448 yards. His 46 scores are tied for the 11th-most in a season in AFL history and are the second most in team history.

Playing in all 16 games, Boone scored at least one touchdown in each contest. Only twice, Week 10 versus Cleveland and Week 16 against Arizona, did he score just one time. He matched a Blaze record with seven touchdowns in an overtime game with the Milwaukee Iron in Week 7. He added four scores against Arizona in Week 9 and in Week 14 in the second Milwaukee game. He also scored five times in a Week 17 game with the Dallas Vigilantes.

With eight touchdowns in the two games this year, Boone has now scored at least one touchdown in 21 consecutive games. During that stretch he has totaled 59 of his 104 career scores. His eight TDs this season rank fourth in the AFL, and first among players that have only played two games. Boone averages a league-best 24 points per game.

Looking at his touchdown per game average over the past two games, Boone is on pace to finish this year with 152 career scores. That total would rank 20th in league history for career receiving touchdowns. He is currently fourth among active players with his 104 scores. Damian Harrell from Milwaukee has scored a league-record 351 receiving touchdowns. Two Orlando receivers, Bobby Sippio and TT Toliver, have scored 160 and 147 career touchdowns respectively to rank 19th and 21st all-time.

Boone has scored a touchdown on 25.9% of his career receptions. That currently ranks eighth among active receiver with at least 200 career receptions. He is scoring on 34.8% of his total receptions this season. He had a career-best TD percentage of 31.5% last season. George LaFrance set the league record for a single season with 35 TDs on 65 catches for Tampa Bay in 1998. Sippio is the career leader by scoring on 39.2% of his career receptions.

Boone also surpassed the 400 reception mark with his 12 catches last week. He now has 402 career catches and ranks fourth among active receivers. From his last two seasons, Boone is on pace to finished the year with 552 career receptions. That number would rank 26th in AFL history. Harrell has made 1,107 career receptions to lead all AFL receivers.
