Aaron Boone inches up the stats charts. Now leads the league in receptions; second in total yards.

After a record breaking game last weekend against Frankfurt, Aaron Boone has climbed to the top of the NFL Europe charts for receivers. The NFL Europe web site sums it up best:

Wide receiver Aaron Boone stepped up monstrously for the Thunder in the second half. On one scoring drive in the fourth quarter, Boone caught five passes for 58 yards, including two third-down conversions. Boone finished with eight catches for 109 yards and a touchdown. The Carolina Panthers-allocated receiver now leads the League in receptions with 40, and is second in the League in receiving yards with 553. He also has five touchdown receptions. These numbers far eclipse Aaron's stats from last year when he recorded 13 catches for 221 yards and four touchdowns.

"Aaron has been phenomenal all year," said Ragone. "He came up with some really big catches in the fourth quarter, and we wouldn't have scored on that series without him."

Aaron has written about this experience and others in his journal, which can be seen in its entirety on his website. Here are a few excerpts:

As usual we started out kind of slow but really got rolling. In the first quarter I caught my 9th TD as a Berlin Thunder breaking the All Time Touchdown record set by Jorge Heckenbach over a 6 year span. The second half we had to come from behind and score a couple TD's in the 4th quarter to seal the win. I really got rolling with a couple really great catches. Ragone really took control and picked apart the defense. I finished with the game best 8 catches for 109 yards and a TD.

The League Stats are shown below (through Game 9 for all teams).
