The safe quartet of Berlin Thunder - the receiver captivate by their balance

The Receiver quartet Jennings, Lira, Stubbs and Boone as well as Vann (2. v.r.) from the Practice Squad

After three plays and two victories the crew structure of the team Head was formed coach Rick Lantz slowly however surely. In the Offense stands out thereby particularly strongly and balanced occupied crew part - the Wide receiver.

Berlin Thunder Quarterback Dave Ragone can trust in four very good passport receivers, that have all individual strengths and for which opponents prepare headaches. Its he does not distribute passport therefore under all his passport receivers and has a preferential alluding station. That makes the passport play of the threefold World Bowl champion in this season so fire-dangerously.

With Aaron Boone, Michael Jennings, Terrence Stubbs and Hugo Lira has Berlin Thunder speed, catch arts and technical class.

Aaron Boone (Carolina Panthers) is not in Berlin an unknown quantity. In the past year he worked from the training cadre into master formation of the World of Bowl winner high and is in this season one of the guidance personalities in the team. Boone captivates by its safe hands and caught so far 7 passports for 87 yards and 1 Touchdown.

Michael Jennings (New York Giants) is with 11 catches for 138 yards and 1 Touchdown the most successful Passfaenger of Berlin Thunder. He is the man for the deep passports and can by start and speed convince. The former athlete is the fastest player of the NFL Europe and leaves nearly each opponent behind itself.

Terrence Stubbs (New York jet) is always particularly dangerous a mixture from Boone and Jennings and thus. One white never, where it free-runs itself straight, in order to be alluded. With 9 catches for 80 yards Stubbs waits only for its first Touchdown of the season 2005.

The Mexican national Hugo Lira rounds the Receiver quartet off. Lira is not national in the conventional sense separates belonged firmly to the Receiver rotation Berlin Thunder Offense. Beside its 2 passport catches for 21 yards it is particularly dangerous with Kick off Returns again and again.

With LaDarius Vann (Buffalo Bills) stands still another further arrow-fast receiver in the Practice Squad and waits for his chance. By good achievements in training it already played itself in the field of vision of the Coaches.

Receiver receiver-Coach Steve Logan trusts his five receivers and knows about their strengths as group: "our receiver are very strong in this year everything. They make their combination in the group however a still more dangerous unit. Every uses its individual strengths and makes our passport play very with difficulty out computingable. If we fit additionally still our Running Backs, the opposing defense can adjust itself only heavily to us."
